

AP Calculus is the study of how things change over time. How fast are cars passing through an intersection? How fast are people entering a stadium? The topic of calculus is centered around the study of derivatives and integrals. This course is fast-paced and intense. Student who enjoy math or who want to study STEM subjects should definitely take the class. This course is culmination of all the previous math courses you have taken. You will learn a lot and will be prepared for college. Be ready to work!!