The Duval County School Board is planning the future of your schools and school district.

If you have thoughts about what the long-term goals of the district should be or about how the district needs to evolve to better meet the needs of students, the board would love to have your input.

They have scheduled several interactive online and in-person listening sessions to hear from important stakeholders on the school district’s five-year strategic plan. Please consider participating in one of these events to give the board your input. Here’s the schedule and you can see more information at www.duvalschools.org/stratplan
