Hello Axson Families!
May is Better Hearing and Speech Month, so I would like to share with you a little bit about Speech and Language Services in Schools 😊 I am so excited to have an opportunity to help students learn and improve communication. Please see the attachment, Speech-Language Pathology Services in Schools, to learn more. This week, some of my Speech Superstars shared some information about Stuttering. They did a great job!!! Please watch the video and see attachments to learn about Stuttering and how to help those who stutter. Next week, some of my students and I will be sharing information about Speech articulation. Stay tuned 😊

Speech-Language Pathology Services in Schools

Speech and language services in public schools are available to eligible students at no cost to families as part of special education, under U.S. federal law (through the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act, or IDEA). Speech-language pathologists (SLPs) help students in many different areas.
